Ethics Law/Gift Basket

Ms. Olsen spoke with Attorney Amy Nee of the State Ethics Commission at length about the requirements of the Ethics Law and the appropriate response to receipt of a gift basket valued at less than $50.

If an individual employee receives a gift valued at less than $50, the gift is the employee's to dispose of as they wish. If the employee also does business with the giver as part of his/her job, s/he should file a disclosure statement. 930 CMR 5.08 (11) states that a public employee is not prohibited from accepting unsolicited gifts of items that are perishable or otherwise impractical to return (such as flowers, plants, floral arrangements, and fruit baskets, or boxes of candy) if such item is made generally accessible to other persons in the employee's agency and to the general public to the extent possible, or given to charity.

The statute does not directly address the issue of a gift received by an agency, meaning an organization, branch, department, or office, because the focus of the law is individuals receiving gifts as a result of their public office. While such a gift should be shared within the agency, and Attorney Nee recommended that it be shared in the same manner as a similar gift to a specific employee, there is no legal requirement to share the gift with the public.

No Action was taken.

PERAC/Memo 39/2011
