Safe Home—Healthy Home

We are exposed to harmful chemicals in many ways—including products we use to clean our homes or maintain our yards. Only a small portion of the more than 80,000 chemicals registered by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) have been thoroughly tested for human health concerns. Many common chemicals found in our homes can have immediate toxic effects on adults, children, and pets if not used properly. Others may have long-term health effects after repeated exposure. Particles from detergents, cosmetics, pesticides, and other chemicals are found in the dust in our homes, potentially contributing to asthma.

We can make our homes safer by adopting minor changes to how we clean our homes or care for our lawns and gardens, and through proper storage, use, and disposal of household chemicals. Consider purchasing nontoxic or low-toxic products. When considering a chemical product, ask yourself if something else you already have will do the job. Common household items such as baking soda, vinegar, and plant-based soaps can often clean just as well as specialty cleaners.

Mercury-containing items such as thermometers, thermostats and compact fluorescent lights (CFLs) should never be put in the trash or recycling. These items won't be accepted at the 2024 Hazardous Waste Collection Day. Thermometers and thermostats are accepted free of charge at District transfer stations; put in a plastic bag and hand to the attendant. All types of fluorescent bulbs are accepted at Franklin County transfer stations, including Greenfield transfer station, and Lowe's Stores. Home Depot only accepts CFL bulbs. These items are also accepted at the District's regional hazardous waste "Super Sites." Fees may apply; handle items carefully.

Batteries (rechargeable, lithium, button) and cell phones are other common household items that should never be placed in the trash. If these batteries are burned in waste combustion facilities or buried in landfills they can release mercury, cadmium, or other heavy metals into the air and water, entering the food chain and posing health threats to people and the environment. Proper disposal of these batteries and cell phones is free at all District transfer stations; hand them to the attendant. Towns that do not have transfer stations have collection boxes at town hall. Residents can bring vehicle batteries to auto parts stores and most municipal transfer stations for free recycling or get paid at scrap metal dealers.
